

Chad Beam

Chad began his Fire/EMS career in 2005. He has worked through the ranks in both Fire and EMS and currently serves as the Captain of Education for Laurens County EMS. Chad obtained his Bachelors of Emergency Services Management from Anderson University and is currently pursuing his Masters of Public Administration from Clemson University. Chad is married to his wife Brooke and they have two children. Chad is passionate about EMS within the Fire Service and is always seeking ways to improve and implement new programs to better serve the community. Chad serves on the EMS committee for the SCFFA, EMT steering committee for the SC Fire Academy, board of advisers for several paramedic programs, and board of advisers for the EMS Management Institute at UNCC. Chad instructs with the SC Fire Academy as well as Greenville Technical College.