

Jeremy Boyle

Jeremy Boyle has been a member of the fire service for nearly 23 years. Currently, he is a Battalion Chief with the Columbia (SC) Fire Department. He previously served over 9 years as an Engine Company Officer and spent most of his career involved in support company (HazMat and Ladder) operations. Boyle is also an instructor and Program Manager for E-Med Training Services, which specializes in Emergency Response Training for the Industrial Sector. He also served as a featured presenter for the Smoke Coalition, presenting at numerous Hazmat conferences. An accomplished speaker and instructor, he has delivered training programs nationally, as well as internationally in Russia.