

Jeremy Johns

Jeremy Johns is a firefighter/medic with Norfolk Fire-Rescue in Norfolk, Virginia. He has been a firefighter for 13 years and has been in the emergency medical field for 17 years. He served as a Light Infantry Medic in the US Army and deployed to Iraq three times, experiencing a wide range of trauma and medical patients. He is also an Adjunct Instructor and Lab Instructor at Thomas Nelson Community College, where he assists in the education of the next generation of EMS providers.